Jim Houck now lives in Ft Collins,CO with his wife, their daughter and 2 dogs. When Jim Houck is not working, he likes to hike and mountain bike.

Dave Gerber, DVM, AVA

Dr. Gerber was selected as the Idaho Veterinarian of the Year for 2006 and was President of the Idaho Veterinary Medical Association in 1998. He graduated in 1978 and owned a Veterinary Economics Award-winning small animal practice for 14 years. In 1991, he was the first recipient of the Small Animal Practice Award granted by Washington State University.

Currently, Dr. Gerber is president of the Northwest office of Simmons & Associates, where he does practice appraisals and brokerage. He is a frequent speaker on management and practice valuation topics.

Nikki Quenette, CPA, CMA

Nikki Quenette is a Certified Public Accountant, Certified Management Accountant and Certified QuickBooks ProAdvisor. Her husband is a veterinarian and, after assisting him to start a practice and working in the trenches of that practice, Nikki decided her passion is to help more veterinary business owners achieve success. She created Quenette Veterinary Consulting to achieve that goal.

Nikki works with veterinary business owners who want to create and live their ultimate lifestyle. She helps owners achieve this with proper financial management and time management. These are accomplished through planning, putting systems in place, testing and measuring results. All of which creates improved cash flow, increased profitability, higher practice value, and provides the owner the option to take more time off away from work.

She also is dedicated to helping the profession become more educated about the critical aspects of operating a successful business. To that end, she is an active member of VetPartners, the leading veterinary consulting organization in the nation, serving on the Board of Directors, Finance & Budget Committee, and its Veterinary Valuation Resource Council. In addition, she is a frequent speaker on management topics throughout the country and you will undoubtedly cross paths with her at WVC, NAVC, AVMA, AAHA, AAEP and other conferences.

As a co-owner of Simmons & Associates Northwest along with Dave Gerber, DVM, Nikki brings a whole new dimension to the services we can offer.

Gordon Brumbaugh, DVM, PhD, DACVIM, DACVCP

Dr. Gordon Brumbaugh is a Senior Veterinarian with Pfizer Animal Health, Cattle-Specialty Veterinary Operations. He earned a DVM from Kansas State University, a PhD from the University of Illinois; and is a Diplomate in the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine – Large Animal, and a Diplomate in the American College of Veterinary Clinical Pharmacology. In 2007, Dr. Brumbaugh became certified as an Editor in the Life Sciences (ELS). Professional activities include participation as a member of teams that review protocols for planned investigations; review of technical and promotional materials; training of personnel in field sales-force and veterinary operations; providing presentations at local, state, national and international meetings; training of Spanish-speaking influencers at feedyards, dairies and calf-ranchers.

Before joining Pfizer Animal Health in April, 2004, Dr. Brumbaugh was an Associate Professor at Texas A&M University, College of Veterinary Medicine. His experience includes large animal clinical practice in private and in university practices; international consultation; international teaching of professional veterinary students and post-graduate students; research in several areas of large animal internal medicine, and veterinary clinical pharmacology.

Mark Kirkpatrick, BS, DVM

Dr. Kirkpatrick is a graduate of Iowa State University where he received a BS in Dairy Science (85) and his DVM (89). He practiced 9 years in mixed practice in NE Iowa. He returned to Iowa State University as Food Animal Ambulatory Clinician and Veterinarian for the Animal Care and Use Committee at the College of Veterinary Medicine. In addition to providing veterinary services for the University's herds he was active in dairy extension, field investigations and student teaching in dairy production medicine. He graduated in 2000 with a MS in Veterinary Clinical Sciences examining comparative Johne's testing procedures. Based on a field investigation performed while at Iowa State he published a case report on Jejunal Hemorrhage Syndrome of Dairy Cattle. Dr. Kirkpatrick is a Collaborator with the Iowa State College of Veterinary Medicine and is actively involved in VDPAM 484 (Senior Veterinary Student Dairy Rotation). Dr. Kirkpatrick is located in Kuna, Idaho and is employed by Pfizer Animal Health Group as a manager in the dairy veterinary operations group.

Doug Knueven, DVM, CVA, CVC

Dr. Doug Knueven received his veterinary degree from Ohio State University in 1987 and has been small animal practitioner/owner in Beaver County, Pennsylvania (near Pittsburgh) ever since.

Dr. Knueven is certified in veterinary acupuncture, Chinese herbal medicine and chiropractic. He also has advanced training in natural nutrition, massage therapy and homeopathy. Dr Knueven has been practicing alternative veterinary medicine since 1993 and has written two books on the subject. His most recent book is entitled The Holistic Health Guide: Natural Care for the Whole Dog.

Rob Keene, DVM

Rob Keene, DVM joined the Boehringer Ingelheim Equine Professional Services Team in 2008. Dr. Keene received his undergraduate degree in Animal Science from Montana State University in 1980. He attended veterinary school at Colorado State University and graduated in 1983. He began his practice career in California in an exclusive equine practice, focusing on herd health, reproduction and surgery. Since 1985, Dr. Keene has served as a consultant and technical services veterinarian for many veterinary and research companies prior to his current position. Rob serves on the advisory board for the equine sciences program at Montana State University and participated on various committees of the American Association of Equine Practitioners. Dr. Keene provides technical support for Boehringer Ingelheim Vetmedica throughout the United States and lives in Three Forks Montana.

Bob Stenbom, DVM

Dr. Bob Stenbom is the Associate Director of Equine Professional Services at Boehringer Ingelheim Vetmedica, Inc. He obtained his veterinary degree from the University of Illinois in 1978. He was involved in mixed practice for several years before focusing exclusively on equine practice. In 1992 he left practice for opportunities in industry, working for several companies prior to joining Boehringer Ingelheim's equine team in 2000, where he heads a group of four veterinarians providing equine professional services support for Boehringer Ingelheim Vetmedica and its customers. His main professional interests include vaccine and pharmaceutical applications in the horse, particularly as they relate to equine sports medicine and performance horses. He has authored numerous articles and delivers dozens of presentations to both lay and professional groups each year on a variety of equine health topics. He resides in Apple Valley, MN.
